

Planetary News

WEEKLY NEWS

Planetary News is a weekly online news source for the planetary science community. We publish timely science news and announcements as they develop and deliver them to your inbox each week. News and announcements are archived in a searchable database with links to the original source.

News and announcements include:

- Science news
- Community announcements
- Education and public engagement
- Funding opportunities
- Job opportunities
- Meeting announcements
- Mission news
- Research tools
- Student opportunities

Lunar and Planetary Information Bulletin

QUARTERLY NEWS

For more comprehensive news, we issue a quarterly publication – the Lunar and Planetary Information Bulletin – containing a feature article written by a prominent expert in the field. We collect, synthesize, and disseminate other space-related articles that are written in an easy-to-digest format, appealing to a wide range of audiences.

"Keep up the good work! Planetary News is a valuable service to the community."

"... this beautifully illustrated and well-written bulletin will attract many to our exciting field."