

Science Opportunities

Scientific Researchers

Our permanent planetary science staff investigate processes and bodies across the solar system, while also contributing to LPI's core mission of providing service to NASA and the scientific community. We seek exceptional scientists to augment our existing expertise.

Visiting Scientists

We provide ongoing opportunities for scientists at all career levels to spend from a few weeks up to two years at LPI's facilities in Houston, allowing them to pursue research in their area of interest. Salary support can be provided.

Postdoctoral Researchers

We provide ongoing opportunities for postdoctoral researchers to work on cutting-edge scientific problems. Some postdoctoral positions are jointly supervised with scientists at the Astromaterials Research and Exploration Science Division at the Johnson Space Center.

