Education and Public Engagement

Providing Opportunities for Scientists, Educators, and the Public

The LPI Education and Public Engagement team collaborates with multiple partners nationwide to make current Earth and planetary science content available to all audiences. We strive to foster lifelong learning and a commitment to science to benefit the public in our local community, region, and nation.

- LPI collaborates with scientists to assist them in their education and public engagement efforts
- LPI disseminates planetary science content and resources, infused with research-based best practices
- LPI conducts space science experiences for diverse audiences

“The LPI planetarium is able to bring abstract concepts to our students. It gives them a greater understanding of how the world and beyond works.”
