The KLENOT Project of the Kleř Observatory (South Bohemia, Czech Republic) started in 2002 and is dedicated mainly to the confirmation, early follow-up, follow-up and recovery of Near Earth Objects.

The KLENOT Project belongs to the most prolific NEO follow-up professional programmes all over the world.

We present here results of the KLENOT Project from March 2002 to March 2008.

Finally, the observing strategy of the KLENOT Project will be presented as well as future plans will be discussed.
