

Request for Community Comments on VEXAG's Venus Exploration Documents

The VEXAG Venus Exploration Documents, which were last updated in 2014, are being revised in anticipation of the next Planetary Science Decadal Survey. Drafts of each our updated draft Venus Exploration Documents will be made available for community assessment and comment via the VEXAG webpages at <https://www.lpi.usra.edu/vexag/>

VEXAG strongly encourages of the planetary science community interested in Venus exploration to read the draft documents and provide feedback, comments, or suggestions for the revisions. Draft documents will all be available in December 2018 and January 2019. Also, VEXAG will host Virtual and Face-to-Face Townhalls in February and March of 2019 for community comments.

The first document released for public review comments is the Draft Venus Technology Plan at <https://www.lpi.usra.edu/vexag/reports/Venus-Technology-Plan-DRAFT-V1.pdf>. Please send comments, suggestions, and feedback to noam.izenberg@jhuapl.edu including [VENUS TECH PLAN] in the email subject line.
